 SUBJECT: CLPCCD Masking Policy Update

The Alameda County Public Health Department has moved back into the COVID-19 Community Level red tier, designated as high risk. As a result, the Chabot-Las Positas Community College District (CLPCCD) will now revert back to an indoor masking policy consistent with the high-risk tier. Indoor masking is now required, regardless of vaccination status, in all District and College locations. This change at CLPCCD district offices and our college campuses is effective immediately.

Every Thursday afternoon, the county updates its information and determines whether Alameda County is in low, medium, or high risk. The assessment is based on hospitalization rates and on new cases of COVID-19. Our community will be able to review the weekly status by viewing the tool that is available HERE. We will also share any changing status with you via email and on-campus signage. See below to view how to interpret what each level means for you.

The Chabot-Las Positas Community College District is updating its mask policy. The mask requirement is now dependent on our county's risk level. See below to determine what each level means for mask requirements in our district.

Masks are REQUIRED for all individuals indoors, regardless of vaccination status, at all district and college locations.

Masks are REQUIRED for all individuals on campus, regardless of vaccination status, in classrooms, and in the "Purple Public Specialized Areas" indicated on the Safe Work Area Zone map.

Masks are OPTIONAL in all district and college locations.

* Please continue to carry a mask with you at all times, as specific areas on campus may still require masking. For more info visit: districtazure.clpccd.org/urgentalerts

In addition to this overall masking policy, Cal/OSHA allows for staff to request that individuals entering their personal work space use a mask regardless of the county's current status. Staff are asked to post the attached sign around their work area if they are making such a request. Please note that our public health experts recommend that wearing masks and getting vaccinated are the best ways to stay protected.

An update to the website is forthcoming.

Thank you for your continued partnership.
